Laugh Lines: Stadium Snickers

Hit a home run with your pals by sharing some of these baseball jokes!

Q: What has 18 legs and catches flies?

A: A baseball team!

Q: Where does a baseball player go when he gets his uniform dirty?

A: New Jersey.

Q: What takes longer—running from first to second base, or running from second to third base?

A: Running from second to third, because there's a shortstop in the middle.

Q: How do ball players stay cool?

A: By standing next to the fans!

Q: What is a designated hitter's favorite spot at the playground?

A: The swings.

Q: What does a baseball team and a stack of pancakes have in common?

A: They both need a good batter.

Q: What do you call a baseball player who likes to climb trees?

A: Babe Root.

Q: Why aren't chickens good at baseball?

A: Because they always hit fowl balls.

Q: Where do ball players clean their bats?

A: In the bat tub!

Q: What did the outfielder say to the baseball?

A: "Catch you later!"

Happy Mother's Day!

Buttoned Up

Many folks have memories of opening up a box or tin at Grandma's house and finding a bunch of buttons! These little accessories are popular items to collect, not only to use in sewing and crafting, but also for their window into history. Like jewelry, buttons were often status symbols, and both the material and style of button can indicate what era it's from and who might have worn it. With buttons in every size, shape and color, plus endless ways to display them, button collecting is a hobby anyone can pick up.

Reasons To Reminisce

Recalling your past achievements can boost your confidence, researchers say. Looking back and remembering how you overcame an obstacle or learned a new skill builds self-esteem and helps you tackle new challenges.
